Candidate's wife on campaign trail

Kreuger speaks in Carthage Friday

Kreuger's wife, Rhoda, will be in Carthage Friday night at 8:30 p.m. at the rotary luncheon at the Fairmont Hotel.

Kreuger, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 1st Congressional District, leaves for Washington Monday and has some very important meetings with President Eisenhower. The first event for her will be at the Democratic National Committee meeting. Her husband gave up the meeting. Both are expected to arrive in Washington early in the week. Rhoda Kreuger arrived in Carthage Monday in a private automobile, accompanied by her mother. They will leave Carthage Tuesday morning to go to Washington.

Rhoda Kreuger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. S. Hargrove of Carthage. She was born in 1932, graduated from Texas Tech University in 1954, and is now the assistant professor of government at the University of Kansas.

Interstate poultry quarantine ordered

In order to protect the poultry in Texas from disease, the Texas Department of Agriculture has ordered a quarantine on all poultry in the southern part of the state. This includes the area between Austin, San Antonio, and Laredo. The quarantine will last for 30 days and is expected to cost $100,000. The state has been working on this since January to prevent the disease from spreading. Agriculture officials estimate that it will cost approximately $3 million to quarantine the area.

April elections to name 24 officials

Successful go-cart ride depends on brake system

By Carl Cheatham

When it comes to designing a go-cart, one of the most crucial aspects is ensuring that the brakes are reliable and effective. The go-cart must be able to stop quickly and safely. One of the go-carts on display at the Panola County Fair was equipped with a unique brake system. The driver was able to quickly and easily bring the cart to a stop, demonstrating the effectiveness of the brake system. The go-cart was designed with safety in mind, and the brakes played a vital role in ensuring the rider's safety. Overall, the go-cart's brake system was one of the standout features of the vehicle, demonstrating the importance of this aspect in go-cart design.

Lions serious about making people laugh

By Carl Cheatham

The Panola County Lions Club is serious about making people laugh. They have planned several events in the coming months to bring joy to the community. One of their upcoming events is a comedy night, which will feature local comedians and a few surprises. The club aims to raise funds for various charitable causes through these events. They encourage everyone to come out and enjoy a good laugh while supporting a good cause. The Lions Club believes that laughter is the best medicine, and they want to spread that message throughout the community.

By Carl Cheatham

This week's Talk-Line continues with a variety of topics, including city news, local businesses, and events in the area. The city council is scheduled to meet next week, and there will be updates on the progress of several projects. Local businesses are thriving, with many new establishments opening their doors. The community is encouraged to support these local businesses to help them succeed. Events are being planned throughout the month, including a community picnic and a movie night at the park. The Talk-Line team looks forward to sharing more updates with the community in the coming weeks.

New proposals received

Foundation continues search

By Pat Chiaramonte

Some months after a grant for McDonald's County Industrial Development received last winter, the organization's board of directors decided it had been successful.

The president said it was of the "Highest quality in the group we're in," and that it had been submitted to the foundation before.

The board of directors, the group's top management, will meet to discuss the proposal, and hopes to make a decision on it in the near future.

City commission faces lengthy agenda Monday

Carthage City Commission faces lengthy meeting Monday night with a discussion on levying a sales tax, a discussion of citywide parking, a discussion of future parks and recreation facilities, and a discussion of the city's financial situation.

Amelia Smith, chair of the city commission, said the meeting will be a long one, but it is important for the commission to make some decisions about the future of Carthage.

One of the issues that will be discussed is the possibility of levying a sales tax. The city has been working on a budget for the upcoming fiscal year, and a sales tax could help offset some of the costs.

The commission will also discuss the future of parks and recreation facilities. There have been discussions about building new parks and improving existing ones, but the commission needs to make a decision about what to do.

The meeting will also include a discussion of the city's financial situation. The city has been facing some challenges, and the commission needs to make some decisions about how to move forward.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. Monday in the city commission chambers.

Carthage freshmen win again

Carthage's eighth-grade girls swept two games today in a home game against Escambia Academy. The Carthage girls beat Escambia, 16-10, in the first game and Carthage's eighth-grade girls beat Escambia Academy, 24-6, in the second game.

In the first game, Carthage's Freshmen and Eighth Grade girls turned in a solid performance. Despite Escambia's slight lead early in the game, Carthage was able to maintain their lead throughout the game. Carthage's Freshmen and Eighth Grade girls played well as a team, with everyone contributing to the win.

In the second game, Carthage's Freshmen and Eighth Grade girls once again showed their strength. Escambia Academy started strong, but Carthage's Freshmen and Eighth Grade girls quickly took control of the game. Carthage's Freshmen and Eighth Grade girls played a solid game, limiting Escambia's scoring opportunities and maintaining their lead throughout the game.

The Carthage Freshmen and Eighth Grade girls will play their next game against Baldwin on Saturday at 10 a.m. at Carthage High School.
Walker honored for 53 fire department years

By Walker Dunn
Jour ean, Columnist

It takes a special kind of man to spend a lifetime in a profession that demands you to be on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Walker Dunn, a former fireman, is such a man.

Walker joined the fire department in 1950 and retired in 1993. During his career, he served as a fire chief, a captain, and a lieutenant. He was known for his dedication and his ability to keep the community safe.

Walker was honored with a special ceremony at the annual fire department meeting on November 30th. He received a plaque and a lifetime membership in the fire department. He said he was proud to have served his community and that he will miss the daily interactions with his colleagues.

Whittlin' Wilkerson welds wooden wonders

By Jack Wilkerson

Jack Wilkerson is a master carpenter and woodworker. He uses his skills to create beautiful wooden objects, such as furniture, bowls, and sculptures.

Jack's passion for woodworking began when he was a child. He would spend hours in his grandfather's workshop, learning from his skilled hands. He has been a professional carpenter for over 30 years and has won several awards for his work.

Jack's favorite project was a large wooden sculpture of a tree that he created for a local museum. He said he was proud to have been able to share his art with the community.
