STATE LIFTS SANCTIONS AGAINST PNH

PNH, the Oklahoma-based company, has been cleared of sanctions by the U.S. Department of Commerce. The sanctions were lifted after the company agreed to implement new controls to prevent the sale of dual-use technologies to Iran. The decision was made after a thorough investigation by the Commerce Department.

Governor accused of 'male bashing' in speech

Statewide carp fishing proposed for Texas

Gov. Mark White on Monday accused the legislature of 'male bashing' in his annual speech, saying the state needs to loosen its strictures on the environment and pass legislation to promote fishing and hunting. The governor also proposed a statewide carp fishing season, which some environmentalists oppose because of the species' voracious appetite for natural fish. He also announced plans to build a new $30 million aquarium facility in Houston, and said the state would begin testing its water for selenium levels. The legislation proposed includes a bill to allow hunters to keep animals killed by other hunters, ending the practice of 'male bashing.' The governor also announced plans to build a new $30 million aquarium facility in Houston, and said the state would begin testing its water for selenium levels.

Caitlin Adkins, the new principal of the school, said she was excited about the start of the new school year. "I'm looking forward to working with all of our students and being a part of their educational experience," she said. "I'm also excited about the new curriculum we will be implementing this year." The school has recently undergone a major renovation, and Caitlin said she was looking forward to seeing the changes come to fruition. "I'm really proud of the work that has been done here," she said. "I think it's going to be a great place for our students to learn." Caitlin also said she was looking forward to working with the teachers and staff to create a positive learning environment. "I think we have a great team here," she said. "I'm confident that we can accomplish great things this year." The school has high expectations for the new year, and Caitlin said she was looking forward to working with everyone to help make it a success. "I'm really excited about the possibilities," she said. "I know we can make this year a great one for our students."
