Among the plans for airport improvement, construction of a new hangar and a new VASI lighting system is under way. Plans for the new hangar include houses for six airplanes and a new VASI lighting system, which will improve runway lighting. In addition, the airport has obtained a new light system, which will improve visibility.

ZOE'S RECIPE BOX

By Amanda Studdard

White Chocolate Macadamia Nut Cookies

1 cup butter, softened
1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup macadamia nuts
1 cup white chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C). Grease cookie sheets.

In a bowl, cream together the butter and sugars until light and fluffy. Beat in the eggs and vanilla. Combine the flour, baking soda and salt. Gradually add the flour mixture to the creamed mixture alternately with the buttermilk, beating well after each addition.

Stir in macadamia nuts and chocolate chips. Drop by rounded teaspoons onto prepared cookie sheets. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes in the preheated oven. Cool on wire racks.

Each year on July fourth, we observe the holiday commemorating the adoption of our country’s Declaration of Independence. This usually is a time for the gathering of friends and relatives to celebrate how much God has blessed our country. Picnics, parades, and parties are usually in order on this day, and everyone should display their American flag to show their patriotism. We as a young country, are not without our problems, though. It seems that we all have been affected by the evils of crime, drugs, poverty, and the breakdown of the family. However, if we practice and abide by the motto of “In God We Trust”, our continued independence should be assured. And, although we want to be independent and free from tyranny, our dependence on God should never be taken for granted or forgotten.

WE’re PROUD TO BE AMERICANS!

Rodeo week activities slated

A full slate of events is currently being planned for the annual Panorama Rodeo. Events will be held throughout the week at the Rodeo Grounds.

The week begins on Monday with the Panorama Rodeo Parade. The parade will start at 4 p.m. and will feature floats, bands, and riders from all over the county. The parade will conclude with the grand parade, where community leaders and local officials will be among the participants.

On Tuesday, the Panorama Rodeo will host its annual Queen and King Pageant. The pageant will feature contestants from all over the county, and the winners will be crowned later in the evening.

Wednesday night is set aside for the youth rodeo. Young riders from across the county will participate in various events, including horseback riding, barrel racing, and roping.

Thursday morning will see the start of the Panorama Rodeo. Events will include bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, and bareback riding.

Friday will be a day of festivities. The Panorama Rodeo will host its annual rodeo queen contest, and the rodeo will feature a variety of events, including bull riding, steer wrestling, and team roping.

Saturday and Sunday will be packed with events. The rodeo will feature a variety of events, including bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, and bull riding. The rodeo will also feature a rodeo queen contest and a fireworks display.

All events are free to the public, and admission is only required for admission to the rodeo grounds. Food and beverages will be available for purchase throughout the week.

Adams ranked second in nation

One of the nation's top bull riders is back in action after a long layoff. Bull riding legend Tom Adams returned to the saddle last month, and he's already shown his skills at the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas.

Adams, who is widely regarded as one of the best bull riders in the world, has been sidelined with a shoulder injury for several months. However, he made a triumphant return to the saddle last month, and he's already shown his skill at the National Finals Rodeo.

At the National Finals Rodeo, Adams rode in the bareback riding event. He scored a 91 on his first ride, and he followed it up with a 90 on his second ride. His total score of 181 put him in second place overall.

Adams, who has won the National Finals Rodeo three times, is looking to bounce back from his injury and reclaim his place at the top of the sport.

Three local students receive scholarships

Three Panola County students have been named 1996 Panola County Cattlemen's Association scholarship winners.

The winners are Brandon Holland of Carthage, Justin Minter and Panola County Cattlemen's Association President Ronnie LaGrone.

Brandon was named winner of the $1,000 scholarship.

Justin Minter, a senior at Carthage High School, received a $1,000 scholarship.

Ronnie LaGrone, who also was named a winner of a $1,000 scholarship, is a senior at Carthage High School.

The scholarship winners were selected based on academic excellence, leadership ability, extra-curricular activities and other criteria.

The scholarship program is sponsored by the Panola County Cattlemen's Association.

The winner of the $1,000 scholarship was announced by the Panola County Cattlemen's Association President Ronnie LaGrone.

Andrews is back to marvel bullriding fans

Andrews Roden Company, which is celebrating its 48th year, is back to marvel bullriding fans.

For the past 47 years, the Andrews Roden Company has been known for its rodeo events, including the annual Panola County Cattlemen's Association Rodeo.

This year, the company is back with its usual array of events, including bull riding.

The Andrews Roden Company was founded in 1960 by J.J. Andrews.

Today, the company is run by J.J.'s son, Randy Andrews.

Randy Andrews says the company is excited to be back and to continue to provide entertainment for fans.

"Our goal is to provide a fun and exciting event for everyone," Andrews said.

The Andrews Roden Company is known for its unique and challenging events, including bull riding.

For his money, Andrews says he enjoys the thrill of riding the bulls and the adrenaline rush that comes with it.

"I love the excitement of it," Andrews said.

Mathis returns for his fourth year

Vernon native Howard Mathis is scheduled to return to the Carthage area for the fourth consecutive year. Mathis has been a professional rodeo announcer for over 30 years. He has worked at the Texas State Fair, the National Finals Rodeo, and the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association’s World Championship Rodeo in Omaha, Neb., and the international events on TNN in various cities.

Also, he was selected to announce the prestigious Tri-City Rodeo Parade held in the first of June in Columbia, Mo., and the Dodge City National Rodeo in 1982 and 1986. Mathis is a member of the National Finals Rodeo Hall of Fame and the National Finals Rodeo Parade's Hall of Fame.

Mathis returned to the same arena for the 1986 and 1988 exhibitions. In 1988, Mathis was chosen as the national announcer for the PBR Finals in Las Vegas at the MGM Grand.

Wiley to share rescue duties with Adams in the arena

Keeping the tradition of family involvement in the rodeo arena alive, Wiley and Adams County Rodeo announcer and student announcer Amy Adams share the booth duties at this year's rodeo. Wiley, who has been involved in the sport for over 25 years, counts on Adams to help with the duties.

It's a rough life for the rodeo cowboy

Tired and event stressed as a rodeo cowboy doesn't get paid and is a complete percent of the year. No time for a family or friends. The only thing they can do is work hard and then shed the sweat and tears of their work. Occasionally, especially during the busy summer months, the cowboy will enjoy himself by going to a rodeo or cowboy camp andfly to shoot some tips. The buddy system really works for these guys.

A cowboy's success in the calf roping event depends on the teamwork between him and his horse.

Rodeo history still a mystery

Rodeo was born on the Western plains of young America. The exact origins of the sport are still shrouded in mystery. While accurate stories and accounts of the early days exist, there is speculation that the sport originated on the ranches of the American West. Some historians believe that rodeo was influenced by Native American cultures, while others argue that it evolved from European horse-manipulation games.

Barrel racing calls for skill, speed, and close cut maneuvers.

Bullfighting now compete for their own world championships.

Bullfighting was once a popular feature of the rodeo. Today, it is largely regulated and performed by trained professionals. The bullfighter is responsible for controlling the bull, while also providing an environment that is safe for the performers.

We're not just clowns anymore

Today, bullfighting is considered a dangerous and controversial sport, with some states banning its practice due to animal welfare concerns. However, bullfighting continues to be a popular attraction in certain regions of the world.
