Course Syllabus
English 1301—Composition I

Catalog Description: Intensive study of and practice in writing processes, from invention and researching to drafting, revising, and editing, both individually and collaboratively. Emphasis on effective rhetorical choices, including audience, purpose, arrangement, and style. Focus on writing the academic essay as a vehicle for learning, communicating, and critical analysis.

Note: ENGL 1301 is now a pre-requisite for all 2000-level literature courses. This change was a result of recommendations by the English faculty group for the 2011 Learning Objectives project.

Alternate Operations During Campus Closure: In the event of an emergency or announced campus closure due to a natural disaster or pandemic, it may be necessary for Panola College to move to altered operations. During this time, Panola College may opt to continue delivery of instruction through methods that include, but are not limited to: online learning management system (CANVAS), online conferencing, email messaging, and/or an alternate schedule. It is the responsibility of the student to monitor Panola College's website (www.panola.edu) for instructions about continuing courses remotely, CANVAS for each class for course-specific communication, and Panola College email for important general information

Instructional Goals and Purposes:
The purpose of this course is to fulfill academic requirements of the Panola College Core Curriculum and an Associate of Arts or Associate of Science degree.

Learning Outcomes: [from the ACGM catalog]
After studying all materials and resources presented in the course, the student will be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of individual and collaborative writing processes.
2. Develop ideas with appropriate support and attribution.
3. Write in a style appropriate to audience and purpose.
4. Read, reflect, and respond critically to a variety of texts.
5. Use Edited American English in academic essays.

Course Content:
A general description of lecture/discussion topics included in this course are listed in the Learning Objectives section of this syllabus.

Students in all sections of this course will learn the following content:

1. Students in English 1301 will be required to write a minimum of 3,500 words to be graded by the instructor according to the Panola College Minimum Grading Standards for English 1301 (see appendix at end of document).

2. The 3,500-word requirement includes both expository and argumentative writing. Expository modes may include a combination of some of the following: narration, description, process, definition, exemplification, division/classification, comparison/contrast, and cause and effect.
3. Students will be required to read both professional and student essays exemplifying each mode and to respond to these sample essays orally and/or in writing.

4. At the instructor's discretion, students may be required to complete exercises on grammar, punctuation, usage, etc. and to pass a test over this material as part of the course requirements.

Methods of Instruction/Course Format/Delivery:

English 1301 is taught in a writing lab for both face-to-face and hybrid classes. Online English 1301 classes are delivered through the Canvas learning management system. Face-to-face classes and hybrid classes include the use of Canvas as an enhancement to the course.

Students are instructed in methods of developing various types of essays, including both expository and argumentative essays. Instruction may include lecture, assigned readings, oral and/or written responses to readings, both in-class and out-of-class writing, peer evaluation, revising and editing, journal assignments, and practice exercises over grammar/punctuation/usage topics.

Instructor-assisted writing in a computer lab is an essential component of the face-to-face and hybrid versions of the course. Online students interact with the instructor and with other students through email, discussion boards, chat rooms, and peer editing requirements. Online instructors determine requirements and methods of submitting drafts of essays and receiving feedback on assignments.

Major Assignments / Assessments:
The following items will be assigned and assessed during the semester and used to calculate the student's final grade.

Assignments

1. Essays: Essay assignments include expository essays consisting of narration, description, comparison/contrast, definition, or other expository forms, and an argumentative essay (minimum 3500 words combined for essay assignments).
2. Daily assignments: Daily work may include short in-class assignments/activities, oral and/or written responses to assigned readings, drills and/or quizzes over sentence mechanics, self evaluations of essay assignments, peer evaluations of essay assignments, essay corrections, and other assignments/activities not included in the essay grade category. Also, exercises in grammar and punctuation chosen by the instructor may be required.
3. Final exam: Essay and/or grammar/punctuation test. A final exam is required.

Assessment(s):

Students will write a minimum of 3,500 words consisting of essay assignments to be graded by the instructor according to the Panola College Minimum Grading Standards for English 1301 (see appendix at end of document). At least 70% of the course grade will be based on essay assignments. At least 20% of the course grade will be based on daily assignments. A final exam (10% of course grade) is required. All testing not administered by the instructor must be proctored by a Panola College testing proctor at a Panola College testing site or other site approved by the instructor.

Course Grade:
The grading scale for this course is as follows:

- Essays 70%
- Daily grade 20%
- Final exam 10%

Texts, Materials, and Supplies:
• No text is required for English 1301.

Other:
• Courses conducted via video conferencing may be recorded and shared for instructional purposes by the instructor.

Appendix:
The document below, Minimum Grading Standards (for English 1301), is the evaluation instrument used for all student essays submitted in the course. These standards may be modified for shorter assignments such as paragraph-length assignments. In addition, these are considered end-of-course standards, and may be applied by individual instructors accordingly. These standards also apply to other English courses (1302, 2311, 2322, 2323).

Minimum Grading Standards
To be considered passing, an essay written in English 1301 must exhibit that the student writer has followed both oral and written instructions, organized the paper coherently, developed it with significant content, and written in correct grammatical form.
--A passing essay must be over a topic appropriate to the assignment. If the essay requires a minimum number of examples and points, then that minimum must be met.
--In argumentative and expository discourse, the essay must have a clearly discernible thesis sentence and related topic sentences.
--The paper must reveal some systematic pattern of organization based on or growing out of a central idea.
--The paper must offer specific support of the thesis (facts, examples, explanations, justifications, arguments,).
--The paper must be coherent.

--A passing essay may not contain any combination of three of these categories of errors:
--one or more sentence fragments clearly not used for a specific effect or for generally recognized rhetorical and stylistic purposes
--one or more fused sentences (run-on sentences)
--one or more comma splices
By the end of the course, any paper which does not measure up to these standards should not be awarded a passing grade.

The following errors are considered insufficient alone to cause a paper to fail, unless the number is excessive:
--subject-verb agreement errors
--pronoun-antecedent agreement errors
--spelling errors or confusions between such common words as their-they’re-there, its-it’s, no-know, lose-loose-loss, affect-effect, and/or such everyday words as occurrence, occasion, receive, among (not an all-inclusive list)
--spelling errors of less than common words
--misuse of commas, other than the comma splice
--misuse of the apostrophe --other punctuation errors
--shifts in person
--shifts in verb tense
--shifts in voice
--misplaced modifiers
